LITERATURE AND COMPOSITION

$765 A La Carte / $573.50 Full Program

Students deepen skills in reading, writing, and discussion through classic literature, grammar, and composition. They analyze themes, characters, and literary techniques while building structured writing skills, from paragraphs to five-paragraph essays. This course prepares students for upper-level seminars by strengthening critical thinking, clear communication, and thoughtful engagement with texts.

MATHEMATICS

$510 A La Carte / $382.50 Full Program

Students build on their mastery of rational numbers to explore geometry, algebra, and probability. They study circles, ratios, proportionality, linear equations, and graphing while preparing for Algebra I. Emphasizing logic and proof, the course fosters mathematical reasoning and appreciation for the truth, beauty, and goodness found in mathematics.

PHYSICAL SCIENCE

$510 A La Carte / $382.50 Full Program

Students explore the order and laws of the physical world through observation, measurement, and modeling. They study matter, motion, forces, energy, and waves while learning to represent unseen phenomena with models and diagrams. Through experiments and Socratic dialogue, students build reasoning skills and wonder at the structure of nature.

HISTORY

$510 A La Carte / $382.50 Full Program

Students trace the fall of Rome to the dawn of the Renaissance, exploring medieval Europe's culture, faith, and key figures. Through primary sources, geography, and seminar discussion, they develop skills in close reading and dialogue while reflecting on the roots of classical education and the enduring questions of humanity.

ART

$510 A La Carte / $382.50 Full Program

Students study art as a way to create and encounter beauty, developing observational drawing skills through practice, critique, and inspiration from masterworks. This course deepens students' ability to see, think, and draw, while connecting their work to artistic traditions through units on art history, Cubism, Surrealism, and more.

MUSIC

$510 A La Carte / $382.50 Full Program

Students explore music through theory, history, performance, and critical listening. They study notation, rhythm, scales, and masterworks while learning to play the recorder. With no prior training required, this course builds foundational skills and deepens appreciation for music's beauty and structure as part of a well-rounded liberal arts education.

LATIN II

$510 A La Carte / $382.50 Full Program

Students build a strong foundation in Latin grammar and vocabulary through reading, writing, speaking, and listening. They study declensions, conjugations, pronouns, and commands while exploring adapted texts like Horace and the Aeneid.
